EDITORIAL

“ We are past masters in outdoor accommodation and property development, boasting over ten years’ experience in designing and developing Holiday Resorts and Villages in some of France’s most scenic regions. We are acknowledged in the wider industry as the French specialists in the field of holiday homes available on a freehold basis. I’m passionate about promoting the Holiday Resorts and Villages concept - a terrific idea that deserves to be far better known. I also place great importance on offering top quality advice and support that’s carefully tailored to individual future owners. Each client is unique, which is why we give them a large degree of choice as regards plots and chalet designs. The Nature & Résidence team has chosen a number of high-quality, French-made chalet designs. Our designs are based on very environmentally-friendly wooden frame construction methods. For our clients’ peace of mind, we oversee every phase of the process – from the initial sale, through to the chalet’s installation on the site (including all interior fittings and equipment) and after-sales service. The building warranty that comes with every chalet bears testament to the confidence we have in our ability to offer you holiday homes that are ready to live in and which will stand the test of tin ”
